Have you ever put a puzzle together? Most people find all the edge pieces and create the frame first, then start filling in the center pieces. The goal of the 2012 ICHP Spring Meeting is to provide you with the framework for your health-system practice. Various guidelines will be reviewed that cover safety, workflow, management, leadership and clinical practice. The keynote will start with discussing Lean principles and how to incorporate them into your workplace. Lean principles employ a redesign to eliminate waste by shortening the time between the start and finish of any process. Many pharmacy leaders have applied Lean as a means of improving workflow and safety while minimizing waste and saving costs.

The keynote speaker, Kyle E. Hultgren, in his leadership role at the Center for Medication Safety Advancement, pursues the development of innovative safe medication use practices as well as engages methods to educate healthcare practitioners and student pharmacists.

Let’s build the framework together and start filling in the rest of the healthcare puzzle with additional CPE programming and professional networking through the poster session and exhibit program! On Friday night, enjoy some social time while supporting pharmacy legislative issues at the ICHP PAC event.
